Canada History Week 2022: History of Arts, Culture, and Creators

This learning tool and digital magazine have been created to accompany Canada History Week's three animated short videos. Canada History Week 2022 highlights stories of arts, culture, and creators in Canada.

This learning tool has been created to provide context on and expand on the history of arts and culture in Canada. It was created to accompany the three short videos produced for Canada History Week 2022, featuring director and actor Rose Ouellette, known as La Poutine, concert singer Portia White, and the Professional Native Indian Artists Inc. collective.

View the digital magazine, created by Historica Canada for Canada History Week, to learn more about the history of arts and culture in Canada.

The videos are available inside both the digital magazine and the learning tool.
